

Hi! I'm Adya Srinivasan, the president of IA's National Honor Society and the leader of the Shine Box Project! As a dedicated member of the healthcare pathway, I am very passionate about using my leadership role to positively impact my community when it comes to basic health necessities. Therefore, I was super excited to launch the Shine Box Project, which addresses hygiene challenges in metro Atlanta by providing 'shine' boxes—packages filled with essential hygiene products—to local homeless shelters. I am very enthusiastic about leading the club and this initiative, and I look forward to making a meaningful impact!

Janice Kim is the vice president of NHS. This year, she is leading a service project called Operation: Help a Hero. Through this project, she hopes to make stockings for families in the military. Her goal is to make a meaningful difference for families beyond the classroom!

My name is Samreen Bhatia and I am the treasurer of National Honors Society. This year I started a service project called The Fairy Godmother Project. This project is committed to collecting Homecoming and Prom outfits to donate to local women and children's shelters. My goal is to ensure every teenager can have a memorable prom and homecoming night!

This is Vitchae Han. Hello! I am the secretary of NHS. As the secretary, I keep track of meetings, organize student service hours, and lead a service project. This year, I am leading the project called, "Share the Sound!"

Hello, I'm Jin Han, the historian for NHS! This year, my service project is "Letters Against Isolation," an organization dedicated to sending letters to seniors in nursing homes. This initiative emerged during the pandemic when many seniors faced isolation from their families due to higher health risks. My goal is to continue this effort, bringing joy and connection to these individuals through heartfelt letters. I'm eager to see the positive impact we can make together this year.
